Primorska

V vinorodni deželi Primorski so zaradi močnega vpliva toplega sredozemskega podnebja in velike pestrosti tal, vina ekstraktno bogata in kompleksna. V Goriških brdih pridelujejo bela vina, kot so rebula, chardonnay, sauvignon, beli in sivi pinot ter rdeča vina merlot in cabernet sauvignon. Kras je območje posebnega slovenskega vina – terana. Slovenska Istra slovi po malvaziji in refošku, iz Vipavske doline pa lahko ob uveljavljenih belih in rdečih vinih okušate tudi avtohtona vina, kot so zelen, pinela in pikolit.

Posavje

Vinorodne dežela Posavje se je dolga leta držal sloves pridelovalke lažjih belih in rdečih vin, čeprav so v deželi zasajene tako mednarodne sorte kot tudi lokalne posebnosti. Med njimi je v ospredju cviček, ki ima posebno mesto v vinskem zakonu. Skoraj polovico vinogradov si sicer lastita rdeči sorti modra frankinja in žametovka, med belimi pa prevladujeta laški rizling in kraljevina.

Podravje

Podravska vinorodna dežela slovi po elegantnih, sortno značilnih belih vinih. Odlikujejo jih primarno cvetne in sadne arome in telo, ki omogoča večjo pitnost.

V Podravju pridelujejo večinoma mednarodne bele sorte, med katerimi prevladujejo laški in renski rizling, chardonnay in sauvignon, v zadnjih letih pa se čedalje bolj uveljavlja tudi šipon.

Primorska

A strong impact of the warm Mediterranean climate and the great diversity of soils make the wines from the wine-growing region of Primorska extremely rich and complex. The area of Goriška brda produces white wines, such as Ribolla (Rebula), Chardonnay, Sauvignon, Pinot Blanc and Pinot Gris, and red wines, such as Merlot and Cabernet Sauvignon. The Karst Region is the area where a special Slovenian wine is produced – Teran. Slovenian Istria is famous for Malvasia and Refosco (Refošk), and the Vipava Valley is a perfect place to enjoy some established white and red wines, as well as indigenous Slovenian wine varieties, such Zelen, Pinela and Pikolit.

Posavje

For many years, the Slovenian wine-growing region of Posavje was known as a producer of lighter white and red wines, although various international varieties and special local wine varieties are found here too. Of the latter, Cviček is perhaps the best known and holds a special place among the various local wines. Almost half of the vineyards in the region are planted with two red wine varieties, Blaufränkisch (Modra Frankinja) and Žametovka, an indigenous Slovenian wine variety. As for white wines, Welschriesling (Laški Rizling) and Kraljevina are the two most popular ones.

Podravje

The Slovenian wine-growing region of Podravje is famous for its elegant, varietal white wines. For the most part, the wines have floral and fruity aromas and a body type that makes them very easy-to-drink. Most of the wines in the region are international white wine varieties, most notably Welschriesling (Laški Rizling), Riesling (Renski rizling), Chardonnay and Sauvignon, as well as the increasingly popular Furmint (Šipon).
